master bedroom

SELECTING ARTWORK

Choosing artwork is an integral part of designing the master bedroom. Artwork helps to anchor the bedroom, and ultimately sets the overall style and feel of the room. Make sure you take the time to select the right size, as you don't want the artwork to be overwhelming or underwhelming – proportion is key!

GREENERY

Adding greenery to the bedroom is always a good idea! Adding in a natural element like plants can help to create a sanctuary feel in your home; a place to relax and unwind after a long day! Plants also have the ability to naturally filter the air in our home, which can improve our overall health and wellbeing.

LIGHTING

Lighting is an important part of bedroom design and creating the right mood really does set the tone. Let as much natural light into your bedroom as possible during the day, and invest in beautiful bedside table lamps that suit your theme (or a floor lamp if you are tight on space) to create a lovely warm ambience at dusk.

WINDOW TREATMENTS

Do you need complete darkness to get your best nights' sleep? Or is a little light streaming in from the moon comforting? Select window treatments that support your sleeping preferences, adding blackout shades or drapes if any light proves to be disruptive.

COLOUR PALETTE

Choosing a colour palette for your bedroom is an incredibly personal choice! The general rule is that cooler colours soothe and promote a sense of calm to a space, while warmer tones evoke a sense of energy, passion and vitality. The colour palette can be reflected by the wall colour, or decorative items such as artwork, cushions and throws. Whatever you choose, make sure the tones are a true reflection of you!

BED LINEN

Your bed will always be the focal point of the master bedroom, so choose textures, tones and colours that bring out your bedrooms' design theme. Bed linen is a great way to introduce textures and layering to your bedroom, so don't be afraid to try different sizes and shapes to create heights with your pillows. Alternatively, you can use different materials from natural French linen, to luxurious velvet to add some desirable 'oomph'!

ensuite

GO WITH THE FLOW

It is absolutely crucial to create a good flow and cohesion between the bedroom and the ensuite, to ensure the entire space works together both aesthetically and functionally. The easiest way to do this is by linking the colour palette between the two spaces. Tones that you have used in the bedroom can be reflected in the towels and furnishings of the bathroom.

LAYOUT & STORAGE

The layout to any bathroom is essential and can make or break the entire space. To keep your ensuite feeling stylish, make sure the room flows well and the space is used effectively. It is important that function and style are treated equally, for instance cramming a lot of items in can render your space as non-functional. Don't forget to incorporate clever storage. Drawers are becoming much more popular than traditional cupboards and are also much easier to access.

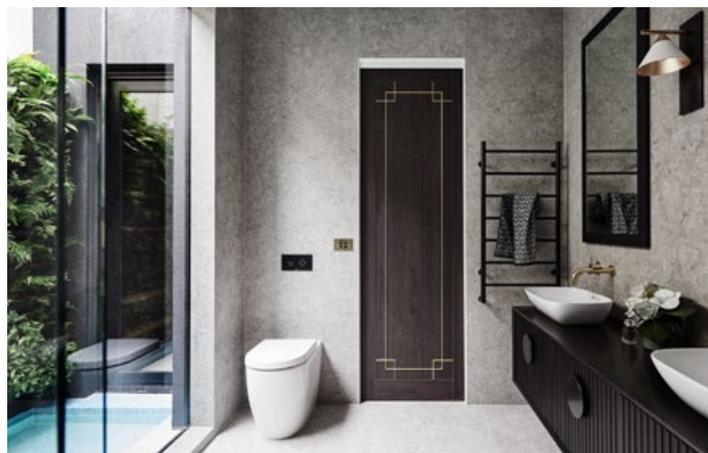

TRY BEFORE YOU BUY

Whilst it may make you feel a little conscious, it's important to sit on a toilet you are interested in, before you buy it. Just to make sure it offers the right height and comfort. This also applies to bathtubs – get in and lie down! Remember, you want to be able to enjoy a good soak without feeling cramped.

UNDERFLOOR HEATING

There's a lot to love about underfloor heating! Adding underfloor heating is a great way to add some luxury and grandeur to your ensuite.

SIZE DOES MATTER

Size does matter, especially when you're thinking about shelving heights. A custom-built wardrobe is what dreams are made of, but it's not always permitted in the renovation budget. Look for shelves with adjustable height, this way you can change the layout depending on what you're storing.

MIRROR, MIRROR ON THE WALL

Installing a mirror or small recess (or both) for your walk-in can really open up the space and feel less like a closed-in box. Typically, it's easy to get carried away and make use of every nook and cranny in a small space, but by dedicating a small area to open space, it can really change the feel of your walk-in-robe. Plus, a mirror and shelving can be extremely practical when getting ready.

LIGHT IT UP

Lighting is such an important element for the walk-in-robe, and one that is commonly overlooked. Lighting should be used to showcase your clothing and accessories and set the tone for the space. Feature pendants can be used to create a softer feel; if you have floor to ceiling cabinets you may want to use strip lighting to illuminate dark areas.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT STYLE AND COLOUR PALETTE

A walk-in-robe is an extension of the bedroom, so it is important that there is continuity throughout both spaces. For instance, if you have carpet in the bedroom, then you would continue this throughout the walk-in-robe. You do not necessarily need to use the same colours that are featured in the bedroom, but the colours need to harmonise with each other.
